Word to that effect was received almost immediately after the discovery at the office of Assistant General Superintendent A. E. Law. The dispatch simply stated that the remains were found some 200 or 300 yards below a boom of logs in the river, it adds that trouble probably occurred at this boom and that the body was carried down the river by the current. The remains were taken to Seattle, reaching there about noon.

SHIPPED TO EVANSTON. Section Foreman to be Buried There

The remains of Peter Hansen, the section foreman who was killed Thursday on the Egden-Lucin cut-off, were sent last right by Undertaker A. F. Ridrey to Evanston for burial. Hansen belonged to the Eagles' lodge at Rock Springs, but had no relatives except a brother in Denmark. Sheriff Josephson and Attorney Parry of Box Eider county went out to Lucin to investigate the causes of Hansen's death.

County Attorney Parry on his return from the cut-off, stated that Hansen's death was due to the carelessness of the train crew. The man was walking on the sidetrack, evidently supposing that the train was on the main line. Instead of that the train being an extra, took the sidetrack. The attorney also states that no warning was sounded by the engine. by Eagles' Lodge.

HIT THE WRONG MAN. Bates is Bound Over in the Sum of $250.

A nice legal distinction is likely to be raised in the prosecution of the man, Wilfiam Bates, who is charged with assauling a fellow employe, Arnold Fordyke of the Ringling circus, and of hitting him in the head with an ax. It appears that Bates had no "malice aforethought," and has none now, as against Fordyke. He intended to hit another man named Codwell, but in the melec hurt his friend Fordyke. The peint will likely, be raised that Bates did not intend to commit bodily harm on Fordyke. At the hearing yesterday, which was had at the hospital, Bates was bound over in bonds of $250. Fordyke is recovering.
